

Slow service stops repeat custom

87% of diners would not return to a restaurant following an experience of slow service, suggests new research from HospitalityGEM. A single incident of slow service would also have an impact, with 95% of diners confirming they would feel obliged to tell friends, with only 47% complaining while at the venue.